MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT: Luncheon for Mr. Raymond F. Farrell,
Commissioner, Immigration and Naturalization Service - 28 July 1964

1. This memorandum is for information only.
2. Attached is a suggested guest list for the luncheon with Mr. Raymond F. Farrell, Commissioner, Immigration and Naturalization Service, and two of his principal subordinates.
3. Mr. Farrell has been known to several of us for many years while he was going up the ladder in the Immigration Service. The general purpose of the luncheon is to acquaint Farrell and his associates with some of our problems and to show them the reasons we make unusual requests to Immigration. Over the years, while Immigration people have been helpful, they have tended to be technical at the lower levels. Whenever we have had occasion to go to the top level, Farrell and others have tried to be cooperative.
4. We believe a better understanding of the Agency and its problems will facilitate handling of alien matters in the future. As a part of their indoctrination, we intend to show them the WALNUT system since they are the source of many queries put into WALNUT. We have also attached brief biographies on the three Immigration officials.

COMMISSIONER FARRELL

TAKES OFFICE

Mr. Raymond F. Farrell, Service career executive and former Associate Commissioner, has assumed a new role as Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

President Kennedy named Mr. Farrell to fill this position of leadership, and the appointment was confirmed by unanimous consent of the U.S. Senate on Feb. 5, 1962.

Mr. Farrell took the oath of office at an impressive Department of Justice ceremony attended by Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and more than 100 officials from all three branches of Government.

Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, long-time friend of the new Commissioner, administered the oath of office. Mr. Farrell's bride, the former Charlotte M. Griedel, was present to see her husband take the oath and be among the first to congratulate him.

Following the ceremony, Justice Clark, Attorney General Kennedy, and several members of Congress expressed their pleasure at the appointment, and their commendations were acknowledged by the new Service Chief.

Long an INS official, Mr. Farrell had served as Associate Commissioner in charge of Operations since Nov. 1958.

The new Commissioner is a native of Pawtucket, Rhode Island. He attended Georgetown University, and graduated from Georgetown Law School with an LL.B degree in 1931.

During a long public career, which commenced in 1925 when he joined the Civil Service Commission, Mr. Farrell has held positions of increasing responsibility. He served with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Public Works Administration, the Dept. of Interior, and, since 1941, with the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

During his earlier years in Government, Mr. Farrell performed investigations of a wide and varied nature throughout the U.S. In 1938-9, he was Special Counsel of The Joint Committee of Congress for the Investigations of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

His INS career was interrupted in May 1942 by World War II. He received the Bronze Star Medal for outstanding service in Italy during the Rome-Arno Campaign and was separated on November 30, 1945, with the rank of Lt. Col.

Upon his return to INS following World War II, Mr. Farrell was named Chief of Investigations at N.Y.C. In 1948 he came to the Central Office as Information Specialist and the following year was made Assistant Commissioner for Research, Education and Information. He became Assistant Commissioner for Investigations in 1952.

As Associate Commissioner in charge of Service Operations, Mr. Farrell carried heavy responsibility for initiating policies, regulations, and procedures to implement the law. He coordinated the functions of the investigative, enforcement, and examinations work of the Service, as well as the overseas offices, so as to achieve an integrated operation and keep pace with changing world conditions.

This announcement of well deserved recognition of Mr. Farrell's ability and record of accomplishments was enthusiastically received by career officers and employees of the Service.

Attorney General Visits Cleveland

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, while in Cleveland on a speaking engagement, called at the Cleveland Dist. Office Dec. 4, 1961. The Attorney General and members of his party, including Ass't. Deputy Attorney General William A. Geoghegan and Ass't. to the Deputy Attorney General John R. Reilly, were escorted on a tour of the office by Dist. Director Thomas M. Pederson. The Attorney General was introduced to all employees, with whom he shook hands and spoke briefly. He also spoke to visitors waiting to be served at the reception counter.

Mr. Pederson briefed the Attorney General on plans to renovate the office to create better work space, lighting, and to add air conditioning. Mr. Kennedy commented that he was well impressed

"Are You A Citizen?" TV SERIES

District Director P. A. Esperdy reports that the District Office is cooperating with the N.Y. State Board of Regents in production of an educational TV series called "Are You a Citizen?" The shows will inform the metropolitan area's 500,000 aliens about citizenship classes available to them, and the steps they may take to become citizens.

Nine shows are scheduled to appear on Station WPIX (channel 11) in N.Y.C. The first program, Jan. 8, 1962, featured Assistant Dist. Director for Citizenship Julius Goldberg, who conducted a mock naturalization hearing. Two "applicants" (selected from among students attending citizenship classes in N.Y.C.) assisted Mr. Goldberg in showing viewers what happens when a petitioner appears before a naturalization examiner. The "hearing" was followed by a 5-minute discussion with the program hostess, Mrs. Angelica Cass, on educational requirements for naturalization.

Mrs. Cass is an Associate in Adult Education, N.Y. State Dept. of Education at Albany. She is the show's producer and also fills the role of hostess, discussing with Service officers the educational requirements for naturalization, and interviewing guests.

Each show will feature, in addition to an I&N officer, a guest who is well known to the public. John Daly of "What's My Line?" appeared on the first program. Guest appearances have been, or will be made by Mr. Jose Melis of the Jack Parr show, Mr. Perry Como, the Honorable Frederick Van Pelt Bryan, Judge of the U.S. Dist. Court (N.Y.), and others.

District Director Esperdy reports that the 30-minute programs are heard "live" at 2:30 p.m. on Mondays with taped repeats at 3:00 p.m. on Fridays.

He said that the N.Y. office, in further cooperation with the State Board has furnished to the State Dept. of Education a

Good Citizen Award

Naturalized citizens receiving signal honors for their habits of good citizenship were reported in January. Three naturalized Americans of Italian, Portuguese, and Armenian extraction were named by the Internat'l. Institute of Providence, R.I. to receive plaque-awards. Honored by the organization for their efforts in assisting arriving aliens to become oriented and integrated into community life were Vincent Sorrentino, Manuel Alves de Carvalho and Larry V. Egavian.

At Louisville, Ky., the John Marshall Chapter D.A.R. award was bestowed on Mrs. Marlen Sweet who emigrated to the U.S. from Frankfurt, Germany 10 years ago. She soon became active in the Louisville League of Women Voters, and for the past 4 years has attended every naturalization ceremony to hand out copies of the League's manual of the duties of citizenship. Mrs. Sweet also finds time to do volunteer work at Kosair Crippled Children's Hospital.

Impersonation

Chief Patrol Inspector Herman C. Moore of El Paso and officers working under his supervision thought they had seen everything in the way of alien ruses to get into this country illegally.

But recently Patrol Inspector Robert D. Lampton began to doubt his senses when he picked up a trail, while sign-cutting west of El Paso, which might have been taken for that of a 2-footed cow! It turned out that this unusual wet-back was a man in cow's hooves. When caught some distance from the border, the alien had in his possession a pair of hooves, wired together in such a way that he could attach them to his own feet when walking across sandy stretches. Upon reaching rocky ground he would remove them.

Pointing out the futility of such ruses, Chief Moore explained that the sand keeps a record of the approximate weight and height of a person crossing it, as well as his direction, and the time he passed that way. Experienced sign-cutters in the Patrol have little difficulty in following such trails. But in trying to outwit the Patrol, some persons tie cactus or brush to their feet, walk backward, or drag brush over their tracks. "This is the first time we ever caught one trying to impersonate a cow--and a 2-footed one at that," laughed Chief Moore.

The recipe for success is just about the same as for a nervous breakdown.

PROUD MOMENT. Neighbors of Dr. Guenther Bicknese welcomed him to citizenship of the U.S. on the eve of his naturalization last December, by presenting him with a 50-star American flag. "I certainly appreciate this. I'm speechless," said Dr. Bicknese (3rd from r.), as he assured everybody "we live in the best neighborhood you can find." Representing the good neighbors who welcomed the teacher to the ranks of citizenship in this unusual way were (from left) Mrs. Robert Y. Fleming, Mrs. Jerome Hart, and Mr. Joe Tilton. Joining Dr. Bicknese in accepting the flag are his wife, Gisela, and 3½-year-old son, Carston.

The boy, born in this country, properly demonstrates the salute. A baby brother, Mark, is also an American by birth.

Dr. Bicknese, who is Ass't Professor of German at Southwestern Univ., was among 88 persons naturalized Dec. 15 before Judges Marion S. Boyd and Bailey Brown. The new citizens were later luncheon guests of the American Legion. The petitioners were presented to the court by Attorney A. J. Carmichael, Jr. of our Atlanta-Dist. Office.

A STUDY IN HAPPINESS should be the title of this photo, depicting the reactions of seven children of Sergeant and Mrs. Braulio Ordonez Orate, as they proudly displayed their Citizenship Certificates. District Director John F. O'Shea of Honolulu is seen with the group on the occasion in Oct. when he presented the documents in the Honolulu District Office. Sergeant Orate, a 19-year veteran of U.S. Army service, was naturalized at Camp Beale, Calif. in Feb. 1943. Mrs. Orate, born in the Philippines, plans to file her petition for naturalization as soon as she completes the required residence period next Sept. This will complete the naturalization process for the family, since Robert, age 1½, was born in Hawaii. Hearings on the applications were conducted by General Attorney Gary Y. Fujiwara.
